You may not have heard of us, but millions hear because of us.

Starkey's was the first to successfully produce custom-made hearing instruments that fit entirely in the ear. Today, we are the world's largest manufacturer of custom amplification, including the highly popular, virtually invisible Tympanette Completely-In-The-Canal instruments.

Since our beginning, Starkey has been a pioneer in consumer-friendly policies. We were the first to offer free, no obligation trial periods and unconditional warranties. Ideas that others first dismissed as too radical at the time, yet were so successful, they've become standard policy for the entire industry.

Starkey's innovative mix of products and services has made us a much sought-after supplier to the world's most notable people. The same hearing instruments you're selecting are identical to those worn by more Presidents, politicians, TV and movie stars, as well as hall-of-fame athletes.

Starkey is especially proud to be the world's only major American-owned and operated manufacturer. And because we are not part of a large conglomerate or diversified into non-related industries, our resources are dedicated entirely to advancing the research and development of better hearing products.

Starkey is committed to providing better hearing for all - including the less fortunate. Proceeds from every hearing instrument are committed to our Hearing Foundation. This gift of hearing means someone else in the world is smiling, laughing, singing, learning, growing – living a life not possible without your help.

Starkey's belief in independently-owned and locally-operated care has culminated in a partnership with thousands of hearing professionals throughout North America. Each shares our commitment to providing the most appropriate hearing technology with unequalled levels of service and care.
